The Webinar Fostering Sustainable Urban Development and Green Infrastructure in Greece will take place on Thursday Saturday, 27 March 2025, from 16:00 to 17:30, in Zoom.

The online event aims to promote sustainable urban development, and the implementation of green infrastructure in Greek cities, with the goal of creating liveable, resilient, and environmentally friendly urban spaces by reducing the environmental impact and enhancing resilience against climate change.

It will showcase mechanisms that will enhance the participation of the local population and the empowerment of local communities, emphasizing the key role the contribution of civil society plays in the adoption of urban climate policies. The event will explore natural based solutions, the model of the 15-minute city, as well as the new challenges engineers are facing due to the new demands for social inclusion and environmental sustainability.

The event will address the challenges of urbanisation and climate change by highlighting innovative approaches to sustainable city planning.
